Position: iOS Developer

Dear Sir/Madam

Please accept this covering letter in support of my application for the position of iOS Developer at Candyspace.

I have over five years of experience working as an iOS engineer at two very large organisations. Over these years I was able to specialise in Objective C and Swift by maintaining and working with large legacy codebases to new green field projects. This allowed me to gain experience in various areas such as TDD, architecture patterns such as VAPOR, MVVM and MVP, maintaining CI systems, project management methodologies such as Kanban and Scrum.

During my career, I have also been heavily involved in communicating with product owners to break down product requirements, liaise with technical architects to find solutions and provide technical support when needed. Apart from bringing these technical qualities I believe I am a passionate and driven individual who wants to excel in the field of iOS and engineering in general for example I know I am not great at public speaking so I push myself to give talks during public events so that I can improve. I approach this with work also, I am a keen learner and passionate about knowledge sharing.

My technical experience, attention to detail, ability to quickly learn new techniques and work effectively in a team granted me great success in my previous roles. I am deeply committed to my work and the companies that give me the chance to prove it, I truly want to bring that dedication and passion to Candyspace and your team.

Sincerely
Melvin John
